

Call for 2020 TSAEE Conference and Papers

The Tanzania Society of Agricultural Education and Extension (TSAEE) is a professional association drawing members from Civil Society, public and individuals. It regularly meets on annual basis to deliberate on policy and technological issues related to extension services and farmer empowerment. In its annual meeting in 2019 it drew an audience of 500 participants from many districts in Tanzania with support from partners including; Members (extension officers), Sokoine University of Agriculture, PORALG, Ministry of Agriculture, One acre fund and Farm Radio.

This year the conference will be held from 7-8th December, 2020 in Dodoma. It is planned to be attended by representative extension officers from all regions and districts in Tanzania, Agriculture Sector Lead Ministries (ASLM), Sokoine University of Agriculture and Civil Society Organizations, farmers and pastoralists.

Overall theme: Contribution of Agricultural extension towards industrialization in Tanzania

Specific paper topics:

- a. Analysis of policies and agricultural framework on their contribution to extension services towards industrialization in Tanzania (to include crops or livestock or fisheries or forestry)
- b. The implementation, institutional arrangements and practices of extension and its contribution to industrialization in Tanzania (especially crops or livestock or fisheries or forestry)
- c. Extension approaches, their linkages and contribution towards industrialization in Tanzania (for crops or livestock or fisheries or forestry)
- d. The political economy contribution of extension services towards industrialization in Tanzania (for crops or livestock or fisheries or forestry)

Call for paper abstracts focuses on the above theme and specific topics. This invitation is seeking to receive abstracts (short and focused 1-2 pages) by 20th October, 2020. The papers should use qualitative or quantitative data, be practical, original ideas or field experiences and generate lessons addressing the theme. TSAEE will review the abstracts, contact the authors by 30th October, 2020 and provide guidance to develop full papers for presentation at the conference. The deadline for submission of full papers is 15th November, 2020.

Full papers will be presented using power-point presentation for at most 20 minutes per presentation followed by 10 minutes question and answer session.
